

Forced Off His Farm By Drifting Sands, Saskatchewan Farmer Makes A Million in Yellowknife

In 1940, A. V. "Fred" Glaque arrived in Yellowknife with three sons and $5 in his pocket. Today, Fred, shown with his wife, heads the Glaque Exploration Co., is a millionaire.

When his farm in Saskatchewan almost drifted away beneath his feet with soil erosion, Glaque salvaged what he could and headed north, leaving his wife, one son and two daughters. He and his sons built "Mabel G" at Port McMurray, Alta. It carried them to Yellowknife.

His gold doesn't hamper Fred when he wants to lend a helping hand. Here, he and son, Orville, prepare a canoe. Two of his sons are worth $275,000. One daughter attends school; the other is married.

Government States Policy on Teachers

Although teachers will still be able to obtain interim certificates to entitle them to carry on their profession after one year of training they will expire at the end of two years subject to extension if the holder is proceeding toward a permanent certificate. Hon. R. Earl Anley, minister of education, announced Saturday. The announcement followed a meeting of the cabinet with members of the board of teacher education and certification on Thursday morning.

THE BOARD is made up of officials of the department of education, members of the faculty of the University of Alberta and representatives of the Alberta Teachers' Association. It had recommended to the government that the term of teacher training should be extended to two years before certificates were granted.

At the last annual teachers' convention in Calgary, Mr. Anley announced government policy in this regard as differing at most points

Ex-Italy King Can Get a Job On Yank Paper

SYOSSET, N.Y., May 11.—(AP)—There's a job waiting in sunny Florida for Italy's abdicated King Victor Emmanuel III—and for Queen Elena, too.

Lloyd C. Griscom, United States Ambassador in Rome under President Theodore Roosevelt, recalled in an interview yesterday that in 1909 while lunching with the royal couple in Italy he mentioned that he was going to retire from diplomatic service and publish newspapers.

The King, Mr. Griscom said, asked jokingly:

"If I EVER LOSE my job, will you give me one on your newspaper?"

Mr. Griscom said he replied, "Certainly, you can be foreign editor."

At this point, the Queen asked, "What about me?"

"You can be women's editor," Mr. Griscom answered.

Mr. Griscom, who owns the Tallahassee Democrat, said the offer still hangs.

In Coast Case To Test Legality Of Price Orders

VANCOUVER, May 11.—(CP)—The legality of price board orders throughout Canada will be decided by a test case launched by a Vancouver used car dealer, it was asserted in British Columbia supreme court here yesterday.

G. L. MALPINE, counsel for Campbell Motors Ltd., contended the national transitory powers act under which the price board cancelled the firm's used car licence is an encroachment on the field of provincial jurisdiction over civil and property rights.

Mr. Malpine was applying for extension of an interim injunction preventing the board from interfering with the firm's operations. The

Prospector Is Embarrassed By Many Proposals to Wed

Announcement that he was selling a rich discovery 50 miles north of Yellowknife to eastern mining interests for a total of $350,000, together with the bucolic sense of humor of some of the sturdy pioneers of that northern mining settlement, have proved to be a source of embarrassment to him, U. J. "Spud" Arsenault, pioneer prospector, told The Edmonton Bulletin prior to boarding a plane for Toronto, Friday. The deal for his latest discovery will be completed in the Ontario capital. He has sold his interests to the Beaubien Yellowknife Company.

WHILE PROSPECTING for the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company in the north, he made three gold discoveries and two of base metals.

Among other finds to his credit was a share in the claim which led to the establishment of Bonanza silver at Great Bear Lake for the Eldorado Mining Company. He was not aware during the war of the honors which occurred in Amsterdam, especially to the Jews.

Two of his years in the north were spent in the Yukon, where he staked claims on several finds of base metals including such ores as silver, lead and zinc. "These are too far away to be of any use right now," he said, "but they may become valuable later."

He uses airplane, canoe and his feet in his far flung travels into the wild country. "They fly me in with my canoe," he said.

Asks Statement, War Bride Dead After 31 Years

VANCOUVER, May 11.—(CP)—Ernest Thomas Palmer, veteran of the First and Second Great Wars, who married an English girl 31 years ago but never saw her again, yesterday asked that she be presumed dead, thereby legalizing his second marriage.

Palmer told Mr. Justice A. D. MacFarlane in supreme court that he was recalled to military duty hours after his marriage and had never lived with his wife, Elsie.

HE SAID HE WAS TOLD later she had been killed in a bombing raid in London a month later. He married again.

On returning to England with the army in 1940 he made further inquiries about his first wife with no success.

The matter was brought to his attention by military authorities recently when they demanded an order presiding the death of his first wife before they would continue his pension.

Truce in U.S. Coal Deadlock Brings Full Accord Nearer

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(AP)—A two-week truce in the soft coal strike eased the crippling pressure on the United States economy today, and raised hopes that settlement of the lengthy labor dispute is in the offing.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN put both the United Mine Workers (UMW) and pit owners on notice that he wanted them to work out an agreement in the next four or five days on a new contract.

With this injunction, UMW's chief John L. Lewis and the bituminous coal operators buckled down to the first of a new series of negotiation conferences.

Government agencies responsible for conserving dwindling fuel supplies meanwhile re-studied their numerous strike emergency measures in the light of the truce and development, but indications were that most, if not all of them would be continued until the coal shortage outlook became more definite.

IN MONTREAL last night, Canada's coal controller, E. J. Brunning, said that if the striking miners return for only 12 days,

Status of Labor Jurisdiction Said Uncertain and Confusing

tion, it is understood the project will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Extensions to the Leland premises on 102 street will be on a smaller scale.

He said that work on the extensions will commence just as soon as materials are available and he hoped that would be early in the present summer.

UNDER PRESENT conditions no definite date can be set for the start of work. It will depend largely on the clearing up of the confused situation in regard to building supplies and other materials, Mr. Cristall said.

The extension of the Royal George will be an "ultra-modern" structure with the design calculated to provide visitors to northern Canada with the finest in comfort and service that can be obtained anywhere on the continent.

PLANS FOR the Royal George hotel expansion as proposed, include conversion of the 102 street fronting into up-to-date retail store premises.

In making the announcement, Mr. Cristall pointed out that the building program and expansion of the properties is in a series of far-sighted plans and ambitions of his father, the late A. Cristall, one of Edmonton's pioneer business men. He never wavered in his faith that Edmonton was a city of destiny and would become a distant future become a Chicago of western Canada.

Mr. Cristall, who died slightly more than one year ago, was the founder of the Royal George hotel. ANNOUNCEMENT OF further details on the building program of the hotel companies will be made as soon as a conditional permit, Mr. Cristall stated.

The Royal George expansion program is the first announced since the close of the war by an established hotel in the city.

SOME WEEKS ago Frank M. Andrews, New York City architect, announced that a Canadian-American syndicate planned to erect a huge modern hotel here that would have a capacity of between 500 and 1,000 guest rooms, costing an estimated $6,000,000.

Just recently representatives of the Ford chain hotel system stated the company planned a 1,000-room hotel costing about $2,500,000 in this city.

On Mother's Day

Recalls Hero's Letter to "Mom"

An Edmonton mother recalled memories Saturday of a Mother's Day three years ago when she received a letter on that day from her son in the RCAF. The boy was killed later in the year in action over Germany. The mother is Mrs. J. C. Burger, 10137 111 street, while the letter was from P.O. Pierre Burger.

He opens his letter, "Dear Mom: I could say, 'Dear Mother', but that doesn't sound quite natural; instead, let's call him Sunday. 'Hello, Mom! I'm doing all right, although he and his four brothers had not 'always been good,' when they were 'bad,' they didn't mean it."

"By one by one we said good-bye to you; you have loaned your sons to Canada so that their children will never have to face the same painful farewell," the letter continues. "Next Sunday when we meet at Communion we shall raise our hearts in a very special prayer for you."

This letter is one of Mrs. Burger's dearest treasures and a reminder of her son's love as each Mother's Day comes around.

Montreal Police Nab One Gunman

Nab One Gunman

MONTREAL, May 11.—(CP)—A six-day man hunt for two desperate gunmen was partially successful last night when police captured 23-year-old Louis Arthur Levesque after a gun battle in Montreal.

Police first reported that Levesque had been caught in a gun battle. He was taken to a hospital. Marcel Brunet, escaped the police net and continued to be the object of an intense search.

ALAS LEVESQUE hovered between life and death late last night following an operation for a bullet wound near the heart. Capt. Georges Allain of the homicide squad issued an appeal to Brunet to surrender peacefully.

"I want to make an appeal to Brunet to telephone me and arrange a truce," said Capt. Allain. "I do not think he will shoot me. There has been enough bloodshed in this case. The lives of citizens may be at stake and innocent bystanders may be caught in the crossfire."

IN HIS MESSAGE, to be broadcast through press and radio, Capt. Allain urged Brunet to give up his gun and bring him safely to police headquarters.

Major and Minor Notes

By John Oliver

WITH the tenth annual Edmonton and district music festival all but completed, eyes are turned toward the 39th provincial festival to be held at Lethbridge from May 20 to 25. All that remains of the district event is the concluding concert by prize-winners, and the presentation of special awards at McDougall United Church tonight. After the provincial competitions, students will turn their attention to tests conducted by various examining bodies and then the season will be over. After that, will come the summer holidays—July and August—when there will be little in the way of music. In the rest period there will be time for reflection and meditation, to assess what one has accomplished in the last year and to determine on what points one has succeeded or failed, and what improvement may be carried out next year and a repetition of weaknesses or shortcomings averted.

ALTHOUGH the Edmonton representation at the Lethbridge festival is not expected to be large, there is every reason to believe it will be artistically strong and that a major bid will be made for the Stutbury Cup and some of the more desirable open events. When Bernice McBeth appears as guest soloist with the Mount Royal Symphony Orchestra at Calgary on June 10 she will sing three numbers, the aria "Ah Mon Fils" from the opera "The Prophet" by Meyerbeer; "I Am In Love With Vienna" based on melodies of Johann Strauss by Erich Korngold, and "Rachmaninoff's In the Silence of the Night." She sang the first two when she appeared on the Singing Stars of Tomorrow program in the spring of last year and later in the same year when she was guest soloist with the Edmonton Philharmonic Society. The Rachmaninoff song has just been added to her repertoire and she will sing it for the first time in public at the Calgary concert.

The Edmonton Philharmonic Society will hold its annual banquet on May 27. Although it will officially mark the end of the concert season, it will not be the end, in fact, because Abe Franklin, the indefatigable conductor, hopes to continue rehearsals during the summer. Practices have been held at intervals since the final concert was given in March and decision to keep on all summer will depend on continued good attendance. More new music has been added to the library so that Mr. Franklin will have a wide and richly varied selection for next season.

THE EDMONTON Music Forum met recently at the home of Mrs. John Peters. The program was as follows: Quartet opus 18 No. 2, composed by E. B. Swinburn, played by E. B. Swinburn, first violin; Hector Wyman, second violin; George Miles, viola; and Phyllis McHaffie, cello; paper on Chamber Music read by Marjorie Willis; Trio No. 1, Koechel 496, Mozart; Recueil, Jarnach 486, and Moment Musical, Schubert, played by Frank Sorenson, violin; Phyllis McHaffie, cello; and Kathleen Gould, piano; Duo for Violin and Viola, Miles, played by Messrs. Swinburn and Miles; Barcarolle, Schubert, the Palma, Faure and La Golondrina, Serralle, played by Harlan Gerra, flute; Jack Fowler, violin; and Irene Lindquist, piano.

The annual meeting of the Edmonton Civic Opera Society will be held at the Empire theatre at 8 p.m. next Tuesday. Reports on last season's activities will be presented, discussion will take place on future plans and officers for next year will be elected.

A concert will be given at Eskine United church on Friday next. On the program will be Gethro Zender, soprano; William Smith, tenor; William Townsend, baritone; Josephine Chamberlain, organist; and Jack Toulson, pianist. Miss Zender will sing The Nightingale, Liebling-Alabieff, with Harlan

JULY 4 IS NOT INDEPENDENCE DAY
The Declaration of Independence which was passed by the Continental Congress of the United States on July 2, 1776, was not actually signed until August 2. On this day, 53 members of the Continental Congress affixed their signatures to the parchment. Members who were absent and some additional persons signed the document later, the last on November 4, 1776. This original parchment is on display in a sealed case in the Library of Congress, Washington, D.C. The only thing that has happened on July 4 is the adoption of the preamble of the declaration.

34 of 100 Jap Workers Would Go to Far East

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE.—More than 100 Japanese who have been working in the Atlas lumber camps for the winter have gone back to Lethbridge, where they will work in the sugar beet fields for the summer. About 75 of them have been here for the last three winters. Most of them have had experience at the coast in lumber camps.

OF THE MEN who have been here about two-thirds were born in Japan, but have been years in Canada, speak good English and read and write.

Thirty-four of those who have just left here, have signified their desire to go back to Japan, some of them Canadian-born. Many of those born in Japan do not want to return because they prefer Canada and Canadian ways.

One young man said he is going to accompany his mother who wants to see her people. Her husband and other sons will not go. When asked how he really thought he would like it there, this young Jap said he did not think he would like to make him see that there is no coming back, and it is most unlikely he would ever be allowed to return to Canada again, but he did not believe them.

Lumbermen found the Japs much better workers than German prisoners-of-war, who were here for two winters. The Germans did their best to slow down work, which the Japs never did. The Japs spent their money freely, bought good clothes in bright colors and this last winter, the Chinese cafes allowed them in.

One young Jap had his leg badly crushed by a tree and has been in the hospital for two months. Whenever they were in town, his fellow countrymen visited him, taking him enough fruit to stock the whole household.

If they were allowed, many of the Japs would like to move their families here, make this their permanent home, and work in the bush or sawmills.

Start Highway
ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE: A start on the David Thompson Highway west of here to connect with the Banff-Jasper highway will be made this month by James McQueen, district engineer from Red Deer.

David Shanks of Northridge, E. Ross, S. G. Hooker, W. E. Lenburgh and the Rev. Neil MacKenzie of Rocky, this week looked over the route and located the survey stakes. Roads here are in the worst shape they have ever been in, "heaving" every 100 yards or so. These "heaves," usually about 15 feet square, are being filled with coarse gravel as fast as the department of public works trucks can fill them.

Miss Wilson won the following awards: Edith Cavell cup for piano, the Charles Stuart cup for the highest mark made in any class in the piano and the Percy Culp cup for the highest mark made in music.

She placed second in the vocal solo with her selection "A Brown Bird Singing." Miss Wilson celebrated her 16th birthday in November.

Vandals Busy

VERMILION.—Considerable vandalism has been committed in Vermilion during the last two weeks. The house purchased by George Whyte on the north side had all the windows smashed. C. E. Strocher, while driving on the south side had a stone from a catapult fired through the windshield of his car. A farmer south of the track had all the windows smashed in an unoccupied house on his farm. The town curling rink was broken into and the curlers and lockers and the boxes containing curling rocks were forced.

ACHE IN BACK OF HEAD AND NECK

One of the common types of aches is that found in the back of the head and neck. The ache is generally of a dull nagging or "drawing" character. Usually the back of the neck feels tight and the fingers are firmly pressed along the back of the neck, a feeling of soreness may be noticed.

The unusual thing about this type of ache is that the cause is generally over two feet away, being located in the lower part of the abdomen. The organs most likely to give rise to this particular ache are the pelvic organs, and congestion or irritation in the pelvic organs may show itself, not in the pelvis, but through the back of the head.

Thus congestion arising in the uterus or ovaries in women and in the prostate gland in men, is the most frequent cause of an aching sensation of the kind being discussed. In women, this type of ache is likely to appear just before the menstrual function; and is also found during the menopause or change of life. An interesting sidelight regarding the appearance of the symptom during the menopause, has been provided me by a well-known optometrist in Los Angeles. He informs me that during the change life period there is often a decided "let-down" in the amplitude of accommodation, which causes close focusing of the eye very difficult.

This change may come suddenly and as a result, the patient's eye-glasses are ineffective. Increased eyestrain follows then the reflex symptom of an ache in the back of the head and neck, often as far down as the shoulders. When due to the cause, the ache generally disappears when the menopause is completed.

Sometimes an ache through the neck and back of the head will be directly due to faulty posture. For example the round-shouldered person who tends to carry the head too far forward will therefore have too much of a pull on the muscles and ligaments which give the head its support and this constant pull will induce an abnormal strain which will manifest as an ache. The remedy lies in the adoption of good posture.

Occasionally aches in the back of the neck early in the morning are the outcome of using too high a pillow, which causes a cramped position during sleep. When such is the case, the use of a smaller pillow will stop the ache. Another possible cause is a slipping out of place of some of the small bones of the upper part of the spine.

An ache in the head and neck which is due to pelvic congestion may often be temporarily relieved to a great extent by taking a hot Sitz bath for about 15 minutes. This is taken by sitting in about 9 inches of hot water in the ordinary bathtub. Only the hips and feet should be immersed.

Massage, or rubbing over the back of the neck and the top of the shoulders, or another measure

Book Review

With the twentieth century nearing its half-century, the demand for sensualism in dance lyrics and escape fiction—as a product of the times—continues high and unabated.

FROM EARLIEST HISTORY human society has consistently exhibited a natural curiosity and an excited, tongue-wagging interest in lovers' secret trysts—and especially in clandestine and illicit bed-chamber amours.

When "Kitty" was published recently its editions sold out. Its reception was so great that a popular unabridged pocket edition appeared in almost all news-stands and other places of distribution.

IN "DUCHESS HOTSPUR" (Geo. J. McLeod Limited, Toronto, $3) the learned and talented authors of the best-seller "Kitty" Rosamond Marchmont return to the "intimacy" forefront with an epic-style story of 18th century aristocracy and much of its unbridled carnal profligacy.

Thomas Ligonier, the hero, is a commoner with a body admired by sculptors and artists. He is endowed with everything excepting sufficient funds and blue blood—he is even an Oxonian.

UNLIKE THE FREQUENTLY errant son of a clergyman, Tom can be pictured as something of a 18th century Tarzan, equipped with an alleged brain and two passions. First, to be a great newspaper publisher, and second, to laugh hysen-like without regard for the occasion or provocation. The authors' description of the hero gives the reader the impression he is the type that would burst into a senseless guffaw if one pointed a finger at him.

This story, intermingled with lavender and old lace, proceeds with breath-taking anti-climaxes and masterly reticence, making mankind's most cherished intimacies.

BRIEFLY, IT INCLUDES a foxhunt, a well-turned fight between Tom and a surprisingly athletic aristocrat, deliberate murder, murder through riot, and the gangstering of the London Daily News and Advertiser, product of Tom's initiation.

The authoress gains her point in the review, Miss Marchmont, in the large number of double entendres which occur in the book. There was no pressing housing shortage. The reviewer is no historian, but Miss Marchmont's descriptions of the 18th century period are convincing.

HOWEVER, IN THE opinion of this reviewer, Miss Marchmont's Tom Ligonier, as a youthful sage and an aspiring publisher of a metropolitan newspaper, laughed entirely too much, and at certain critical moments he might as well have chewed gum and sucked on a straw. This apart from the fact that the authoress employs the old gag of using the heroine's limitless fortune to surmount obstacles of thought in the loose but sensually well-described plot.

An excellent book for jaded flesh and one that probably would have been banned 50 years ago—J.V.O.N.

which frequently helps. This rubbing treatment is one which you may give yourself. Rub slowly and firmly for 10 minutes and you will probably find the ache "rubbed away" a large share of the ache.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of the paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address to McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Plan Services On Mother's Day

Special Mother's Day services will be held in city churches tomorrow as a fitting conclusion to Home and Family Week.

OF THE MANY beautiful tributes paid to mothers, surely one of the most inspiring is the following meditation by the Rev. Dr. J. R. Miller:

"One of the chief influences in moulding Christ's life was His mother. When God wanted to prepare a man for a great mission, He first prepares a noble mother, and puts the child into her bosom to be trained. The Jews had a saying, 'God could not be everywhere, and therefore He made mothers.' Nearly all the truly great men of the world have received the inspiration and stamp of their lives from their mothers. When Moses was to be trained for his work, the Lord put the little babe back in the hands of his mother as his first teacher. There is no doubt that in preparing Mary to be the mother of the Saviour, the rarest and loveliest graces of womanhood were wrought by God into her nature. She was not saintly, but surely we may believe that no more perfect woman ever lived."

SUCH A MOTHER would exert a wonderful influence over the child Jesus, who was the mother of the teacher. Her love wrapped Him around in its warm folds in His earliest infancy and through all His youth and young manhood. Her sweet life was the atmosphere that hung over His tenderest years. Her prayers kept heaven by the side of His feet and shaped His character. What a blessed mission is that of a mother, any mother?

ONE CANNOT HELP but feel that if all parents were so conscientious about their responsibility to their children as were Mary and Joseph, there would be no juvenile delinquency today.

Rabbi Louis L. Mann declares, "There are no juvenile delinquents—only delinquent parents and children, and they reflect us." IN KEEPING with this tradition, it has been the custom of recent years to incorporate Mother's Day into Home and Family Week, to stress the importance of family union and worship in home and church, believing that the family that prays together, stays together. We can't lose the home and save the world. The family unit today is for Christian homes where the worship of God is an accepted practice, and the family unit is the sacred rule of life.

As one writer expresses it, "Get hold of the hand of God in your home and He will hold it lovingly together."

McDonald Church Starts New Series

Last Sunday, at McDonald Baptist Church, the pastor, the Rev. S. D. Trites, started a series of sermons on Home and Family. The first in the series was entitled, "Divorce or Golden Wedding?"

WEDNESDAY EVENING concluded the last Fellowship supper of the season with the annual business meeting following a brief devotional.

The young people of McDonald Baptist church had their home hall game Friday evening. Miss Cora Shalen entered into a music festival as representative of the Y.P.U. The young people are sending Miss Naomi Falkenberg as a delegate to a Baptist convention in Vancouver.

THE TRAIL RANGERS had their first baseball game of the season at their last meeting.

Mrs. McCoy gave members of the Junior Mission Circle an outline of the books on the reading course for next season.

Christian Science

The Lesson-Sermon at Christian Science church on Sunday will elucidate the topics, "Adam and Fall Man." It is based on passages of the following are typical: "For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace." (Romans 8:6). "Sonnet or later we shall learn that the fetters of material capacity are forged by the illusion that he lives in life instead of in Soul, in matter instead of in Spirit." TODAY'S MESSAGE

By REVEREND J. HERBISON
Minister of Strathcona Presbyterian Church

Mother's Day

THE man who wrote the words, "I saw a new heaven and a new earth" must have had a great deal more faith than most of us have. Yet this sentence describes the brightest dreams and most earnest longings of unnumbered multitudes. Today, no man knows whether civilization is going up or down. One man's guess is as good as another's. This is a perturbing question in a day when the hearts of men are filled with longings for a new and better world—a world in which war, hatred, selfishness and greed will have no place, but where love, social justice and brotherhood will prevail.

The answer to the question does not lie in the hands of statesmen, politicians, business men, educators or preachers. It is to be found only in the hands and in the hearts of mothers of the coming generation. If they do not live in themselves the great virtues of motherhood—FAITH, LOVE, FORTITUDE—or if they fail to inspire them in the lives of their children, the world is doomed.

The key to the progress and development in its highest sense of our world will not be found in science, discovery, industry or big business, but is to be found in the art of Motherhood.

On Mother's Day our churches will be filled to overflowing. This will be an outward expression of the inward feeling of love and tenderness we have for mothers. It will be an occasion of expressing a long due and much needed appreciation for the fine graces and noble qualities of Christian mothers. It has been said that "Mother's Day is a Thanksgiving Day in May for mothers who love and serve Jesus Christ, their Lord."

But Mother's Day should also be a day of inspiration. It should inspire mothers to be more Christian in life, attitude and spirit. It should inspire sons and daughters to honour their mother by living such a life as will gladden her heart. One writer has pointed out that music is written not to be admired, but played. Our mothers desire one thing from us above all else. It is that we should publicly admire their faith or praise their sacrificial spirit. Their one desire is that they may see something of their faith and inspiration taking root in the life of their child.

COME TO CHURCH THIS SUNDAY

Mission Dividends, will be shown in color, produced by the United Church director of visual education, the Rev. Anson Moorhouse. It presents an unusual story of the results of Home Mission work in a typical Canadian community. Three special films are being brought from Toronto for the occasion: "Home Mission Dividends," "We Too Receive," and "The Healing of M'Vana's People."

The first of these films, "Home"

PIONEER CHURCH RESTORED: Above is a photograph of the restored McDougall Methodist church, which will be open to the public next Tuesday afternoon for the first time in 50 years. The mission was built in 1871 on the site of the present McDougall United church to which it is now adjacent.

What Your Church Is Doing

Service Will Commemorate Restoration Pioneer Church

By HELEN FERRIS

On Tuesday evening, May 14, in McDougall United church, a civic service will be held to commemorate the restoration of the original McDougall church.

THE 75-YEAR-OLD log mission situated on the grounds of Alberta College, will be open to the public Tuesday afternoon for the first time in 50 years.

If you are one of its visitors on that occasion, you will open the corner gate of the little white picket fence to pause and admire the beautiful copper plaque, whose embossed inscription reads:

"WITHIN THIS HUMBLE CHURCH, built by pioneers and the labor of the Protestant Worship in what is now the Edmonton district had its beginning. It was built only for the glory of God and the well-being of this western land.
It was used by other bodies as well as the Methodists.
"The use of this church as a memorial is a fitting tribute to our fathers in the faith and to those pioneers who sought to build this land on foundations well and truly laid."

It preserves the past.
 "It enriches the present.
 "It challenges the future.
 "Westward the course of Empire takes its way."

THE WORDING FOR this was composed by the Rev. Dr. J. T. Stephens.
 After reading it, you will follow the walk leading directly to the little grey church, which was built by its founder, the Rev. George Mc-Dougall, assisted by men of the Hudson Bay Company, in 1871. It was the first building outside of each side, we come to a reproduction of the platform which, in the old days, was referred to as "the sallyport." This is the stone and chapel portion of the church, featuring the pulpit and two chairs donated by the Rev. Dr. Charles Huestis of Edmonton, a former pastor of the second frame sanctuary.

The simple yet dignified pulpit designed by Maj. F. H. Norbury, well-known city artist, bears on its centre panel the cross and circle emblem, and above this an ancient lamp symbolic of the everlasting light.

THE PULPIT BIBLE—more than 100 years old and recently rebound—was brought out from England in pioneer days by the family of F. G. Roe, former Edmonton author, who presented it to the museum upon his departure to Victoria.

Also on the platform is the quaint mahogany melodeon which Mr. McDougall used in his services, and with his granddaughter, Mrs. Ross of Calgary, has loaned for the dedication ceremonies.

The lower walls of the little sanctuary are lined with photographs of old-timers and early scenes of Edmonton contributed by Ernest Brown, dean of the city's historical photographers.

many fine old paintings, distinguished old-timers by local artists.
Among these are:

The Rev. and Mrs. George Mc-Dougall, by Harry Cole; Dr. A. G.
Rutherford, first chancellor of the University of Alberta, by Dr. Edward Pope; Canon Neeson, 1872-82, and Hon. Frank Oliver, (founder of The Edmonton Bulletin), by J.
Gordon Sinclair; Bishop Gray, by Mrs. Mortimer; Dr. McQueen, by Hilda Mitchell; Dr. Baird and Alex
McDonald, by Margaret Chappelle;
Robert Ritchie, by Ruth Haley;
Mrs. Thomas Bellamy, by Ethel Field; Father Lacombe, by Miss Merrier; the old light at the end of 10th Street, by Miss Cruickshank; Jasper Avenue 1890, Canon Newton's "Hermitage", and the first IHC for press-and all by Mrs.
Armstrong—the latter scene taking first prize in a recent contest.

THE ORIGINAL McDUGALL church was in use from 1872-82, and during this period it was served by six ministers besides its founder. One of these, the Rev.
John Whitson, a United Presbyterian, was a Loyalist from St. John, N.B., and a graduate of McGill University, minister here.

He travelled from Winnipeg to Edmonton by covered wagon, and it took him three months to complete the journey.
His son and daughter reside in the city. Dr. W. C. Whitelide, F.R.C.S., and Mrs. Austin Rees reside in the city.

THE PIONEER CHURCH was moved from the site of the present McDougall church to the location of the Journal Building.
It was moved onto a lot owned by the Alberta College property by the lane, then to the front where it was used for a time as a student dormitory around 1905.

Finally, it was boarded up and relegated to the past until a movement began in 1928 toward its restoration. It was not until three years ago, however, that the restoration committee was formed.
The section just inside the church door devoted to the collection of reunions. Here are show cases containing such articles of interest as the first communion cup made of pewter with IHS engraved on a scroll of leaves, and the silver vessel from which the wine was poured into the cups; a collection of the Rev. Arthur Whitelide's sketches of Edmonton in 1880; and the Rev. McDougall's two Bibles; the one used in his services; and his personal, ordination Bible which was recently presented to the museum by his grandson, F. R. Barber of Edmonton.

Presented to George McDougall at the time of his ordination as a minister of the Wesleyan Methodist Church.

War Vets' Ribbons

Become Court Issue

TORONTO, May 11.—(CP)—High-ranking military officials in Toronto and Ottawa yesterday took issue over an Air Force veteran who when the latter appeared before him in civilian clothes and wearing the Distinguished Flying Cross ribbon.

"You should know better than to wear your ribbons on a civilian suit," said the magistrate, himself an RCAF legal officer in the First Great War.

THE MAN, who was awarded the decoration for outstanding gallantry, was fined $10 on a liquor offence.

"Once a man has received decoration from the King he is entitled to wear his ribbons on civilian clothes," said one Toronto military officer. From RCAF headquarters, Ottawa, came this response: "The wearing of decorations or service ribbons is a matter of personal taste."

A DOLLY WEDDING

(To be colored with paints or crayons. Whenever you come to a word spelled in CAPITALS, letters use that color.)

YELLOW-haired Susie May has taken her very best boy doll over to BROWN-haired Mary's, to be the bridegroom for a wedding.

Susie May is all dressed up in her best PINK (use RED lightly) frock. It has a big BLUE sash, and she has little ribbons to match on her wrists.
 Mary wears a light GREEN dress with collar and cuffs of YELLOW. Her socks have stripes of the same color, and her shoes are YELLOW too like the buttons down her back.

The wall is GRAY (use BLACK lightly) and the dresser a light BLUE with GREEN leaves and PINK flowers painted on it.

There is a PURPLE jar on the dresser, and a YELLOW scarf and a little bright RED box.
 The curtain at the window is YELLOW. The floor dark BROWN. The rug is GRAY with a many-colored border. You can use RED, GREEN,

YELLOW, PURPLE and ORANGE (use RED and YELLOW mixed) for the little pieces in the border.
 Mr. Doll has light BROWN hair, very ROSY
 (use PINK) cheeks, and a BLUE flower in his coat lapel.

Miss Rose June, his bride, wears a wreath of PINK flowers and a BROWN veil. Her dress is light BLUE silk (leave a few white high lights in it to make it look silky. Her slippers are the same color.) The bride bouquet on the rug is made up of PINK blossoms picked from the tree just outside of the window. It has GREEN leaves too. The bride's veil is made of white and her cheeks are ROSY like Susie May's and Mary's.

The border is to be bright YELLOW, and the lettering PINK (use GRAY lightly). Out of the little window frames one can see the beautiful BLUE sky and the bright GREEN grass.

The Church By The River

The following poem was written by the Rev. Dr. J. T. Stephens of All People's Mission as a tribute to the recently restored McDougall Methodist Church.

No costly pile of marbled beauty
 this,
 No rich magnificence of sculptured
 art;
 No windows, colorful in cloistered
 light;
 No halls, with gorgeous trappings set apart;
 No doors of ancient metals, fashioned fair;
 No massive dome, no deep and misty aisle;
 No mighty organ that the soul
 beguiles.

No, just a simple church, beyond
 the Port,
 A humble building, yet a holy place,
 Standing with simple lines, above
 the hill;
 Its portals free to every tribe and race.

There, with the quiet river at its feet—Romantic highway of those early days—
 There, with their simple tools,
 they sweat, their tears,
 They hewed, they ached, and built,
 and gave God praise,
 No templed masonry, no work of art;
 No poem that the centuries might build.

A simple Structure, yet sublimely grand,
 Built by a workman's heart, and willing hand.

And here, where now a modern city yearns,
 Its mighty sky-line for a world to see,
 Still stands, with logs they hauled —those gallant souls—
 And whilp-awn lumber, stands for you and me.

The dwelling-place of God, this precious shrine, McDougall's church. What memories are thine!

Teen-Agers Urged to Stick to Studies

By JACK WILCE

As summer approaches, it seems the teen-ager's mind leaves the algebra book, the French lesson and wanders away to swimming pools and the great outdoors. Not only does the mind wander; also the body.

WE ALL realize how dull it seems to be "cooped" in school on a beautiful sunny day but a few odds should be considered before yielding to temptation and taking the afternoon off.

There are a few things to remember. One of them is that it costs your parents a good deal of money to send you to school, and they are probably depriving themselves of plenty to see that you get the proper chance in life. Don't deserve them.

THESE LITTLE holidays not only cheat the parents but also yourself, more than anything. A number of high school students in the average year obtain an education from high school. The high marks will not be obtained by spending afternoons sunning yourself not sitting in a movie theatre. If a student attends school regularly, keeps his work up to date, everything works out easier and he or she will find school more interesting than the "truant" player. If a student is only an occasional "visitor" to the school, he or she will understand the reason, and just naturally becomes bored, and so comes more "hooked" playing.

THE OTHER day I heard a number of high school students talking about declaring a "sluff" day. Apparently the idea is for these youngsters to get away from school as they can. They plan to get them all to take the afternoon off to attend a movie. If these youths would stop and consider the foolishness in the scheme and how child-like the idea is, they would be dismissed. However, such a day is being planned. Whether or not these "foolish ones" will succeed with their plan is yet to be seen. I hope not.

In your work of tomorrow, when in adult employment, skipping afternoons will not hold your grades for you. I think perhaps, if you are one of these "hooky" players, you should try and consider a bit more of the "stick to it" attitude in your make up.

IF YOU DON'T it will undoubtedly show up in later years. Truly, these holidays, taken on school time, against parents, teachers, and the better half of your own mind, will only have a bad effect on your character. It tends to teach lying, sneakiness and a weak will. It's only another month and a half to the summer holidays and why not hang on down the home stretch and then I'm certain you will enjoy swimming, loafing in the sun, going to movies and all those swell things, much better when your conscience is free and you know that all you do is right.

West Edmon-Teens

By GEOFF NIGHTINGALE
After a two-week intermission in club activities, a dance was held in the Westmont Community hall last night. The dig was well attended, this being due, probably, to the fact that the west branch gang miss the dances when one is not held.

AS WESTGLEN'S grad dance will be held next week, there will be no dance for teen club.

At last week's club executive meeting more plans were laid for the big 25 dance, "Club El Clippo," Helen Poulis reports that plans that have never been used by any teen club before will be featured. Suitable prizes were discussed and some valuable ones will be given away to some lucky persons.

DECORATIONS are well on the road to being made for the big 25 dance. Of the decoration committee, says that they will be strictly "out of this world."

So don't forget, gang, May 23, Westglen, 8:30 p.m.

Elizabeth Woodward Says . . .

WHEN THE GIRLS GO STAG
The dances around your way are purely stag. The boys, and the girls drift in . . . in gangs. Unless you're going steady, you seldom have a date. They turn on the music . . . and the crowd gathers.
Lots of girls and boys would never get a chance to dance, if they didn't come under their own steam. They haven't gotten around to dating yet, so they come alone or with a crony. And once there, girls, if they didn't come under their own steam, since that's the way it is, there are a few things you boys ought to know. The girls came to the dance, to dance with you. They'd rather dance with you once, than dance all evening with their girlfriends. They certainly didn't come to sit around and wait.

"Dinkum Day," to some members of Seneca's student body may have been a humorous event, but wasn't to the members of the staff whose classes were disrupted on V.E. Day anniversary when about 50 students decided to take an illegal holiday as celebration. They were dealt with summarily and the boiler room was crowded all week with repentant students.

A party which was strictly for the drama club members in the green room was held at Friday noon. Organizers and arrangers were: Mr. Pollett, Jo Pilcher, Pat Kavanagh and Len Krysa. Humorous skits put on by the members made a hit with all who were present.

Academic awards were given to the following students: Grade 12: Ian McLeod, Bob Kavanagh, Ted Tomasechuk, L. Iffe and Bill Linke. Grade 11: Jean Lancaster, Della Gaetz, Stewart Wingrove, Harvey Harpham, Ethel Stewart, Blanche Van Coughnet, Ethel Southern, Ken Wallace, Betty Goss and Betty Derrough.

Grade 10: Joyce Westel, Betty Drysdale, Clara Keats, Paula Ragan, Audrey Clark, Pat Thornton, Norma Smith, Glen Strasser, Margaret Attenborough, Ken Horne, Betty Janke and Norma Newman.

General prizes for the awards went to Phyllis Cox and Russ Stogryn. Athletic awards went to Ruth Douglas.

The three hours of enjoyment was open to all grade twelve students from the both schools. TICKETS for the Separate High graduation banquet and dance to be held at the Macdonald on Wednesday, May 29, will be on sale Saturday. Only guests and escorts will be permitted to attend the banquet, but the dance, which begins at 9 p.m. is open to all students, their escorts and alumni members. "Stardust Serenade" will be held Friday, May 17. The banquet will be on Saturday, May 18. The gym will be decorated for the occasion and with the music of Norey Pace, the last big dance of the year should be highly successful.

THAT RUMOR I mentioned last week is now reality. Plans have been laid for the "Spring Bouquet" on the 25th of this month. The girls will escort their partners to the Macdonald hotel, to the pleasure of the boys.

THE LAST EDITION of the Westglen "Parade," under the new editor, Jack Brown, was on sale last Friday. The two service cups have been presented to two of the girls. "Parade" supporters, Nancy Johnson received the cup for the best literary contributions of the year, while Barbara Hanford received the service cup for general services rendered the paper.

It appears that there is still another sport at which the schools can show their ability. As a result, we now have a soccer team. At last reports, the first official practice was scheduled for Tuesday.

ONE OF THE MORE versatile organizations in the school, the Track and Field Club, is preparing for its debut in the city sometime next July. Potential track stars have been running their legs away on the track, while the broad-jumping, high-jumping and pole-vaulting operations are in progress on our own grounds.

In a game played at Westglen last week the visiting veterans from Tech. were beaten 15 to 15 in the opener of the High School Football League. In a return engagement last Wednesday, they were again beaten 20-15.

EASTWOOD
By LINNEA VIKMAN
It's almost impossible to give a same account of the events that have taken place at Eastwood this week. Everyone has been so busy and the school has been in a positive turmoil. End of the term tests have cropped up, as was expected, and with them the deadlines for both Gazette and yearbook copy.

NEARLY EVERY conversation among Eastwood pupils this week included some comment on the about the Grad dance, which took place last night. The huge turnout was expected right from the start, since the Grad dance is always the biggest, most enjoyed and most looked-for event of the year.

Summer sports at Eastwood are still simply in a state of being announced. The boys' league has been "running" for some time now. Students taking PT this year have now started their practicing to qualify for the track and field award.

THE NAMES of the winners of the photography contest have been announced. Jean Bernard was awarded first prizes in the portrait and everyday-life groups came away with nothing less than the grand prize. Other first prize winners were Shirley Colby (scapes), Ivie Gilmore (animals), Margaret Weller (children), Nick Shandro (symmetrical), Alan Angus (still life) and Bill Linke (sports). Second prizes were awarded in all of these groups.

THE miraculous manner in which we are able to accomplish even the impossible in times of war is only surpassed by our apparent inability to cope with even routine problems in times of peace. This fact is painfully obvious to anyone who compares what happened between 1939 and 1945 with what is happening today. The reason for this is not so easy to see, or understand.

SPRING GREENS

The TEENIE WEEENIES

BY WIM DONAHUE

ONE thing the Teenie Weenies miss during the Winter is fresh green vegetables. They occasionally get a piece of lettuce that has been thrown out back of the grocery store and once the Policeman, on his rounds, found a brussels sprout. The little folk had a regular feast from that Teenie Weenie cabbage, but such luck happens very seldom and by early Spring they begin to watch for the first dandelion to appear. Dandelion leaves are much liked by the Teenie Weenies, especially when boiled as greens. Some like to eat the young leaves as we do lettuce, and so all the Teenie Weenies were much pleased when the Chinaman reported the first dandelion.

"You fellows get a couple of leaves and I'll make a big pot of greens," the Cook told the Chinaman.

"And while you are at it, get the stem, too," put in the Old Soldier, who was washing his hands in an acorn shell pan at the kitchen sink. "The water-sprout from the kitchen eaves trough has rusted through and we can put in a dandelion stem to take its place until I get a chance to make a new spout."

Led by the Chinaman, several of the little men went after the dandelion. The Cook went along too, for he wanted to be sure of young tender leaves. They found the dandelion growing near a big fence post in a sunny spot and the Cook pointed out a couple of tender leaves. Gogo had cut one off with his sharp Teenie Weenie ax, when a young chicken walked up and began eating it.

"HERE!" shouted the Cook. "You can't have that. Go and get your own leaf."

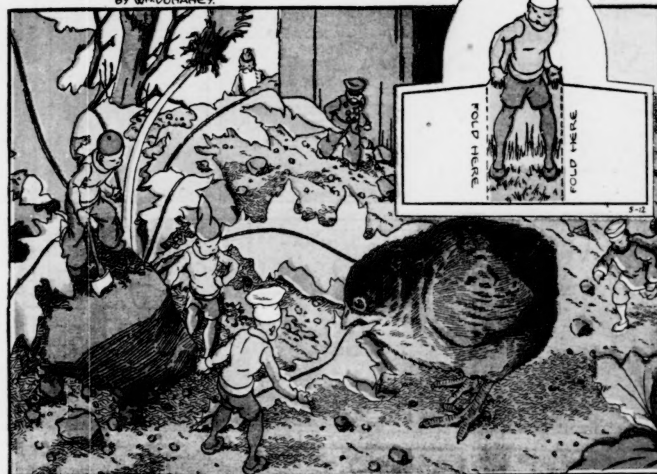

The chicken went right on eating. When the Cook grabbed the leaf and pulled it away, the chicken seemed surprised and hurt. After cheeping his opinion of the little men, he walked away.

"Well, of all the nerve!" sputtered the Dunce. Gogo cut off another leaf and then neatly cut off the hollow stem of the dandelion. The men rolled up the two leaves and the Dunce and the Chinaman carried them back to the Teenie Weenie village while Gogo took the stem on his stout little shoulder.

The Old Soldier soon fitted the dandelion stem to the eaves trough while the Cook put the leaves into a kettle with a frog ham bone to cook for supper. Gogo helped by mixing a shell of corn pone. As he worked, he made up this little song:

"Watahsputs and greens
Is wadin' yo' means,
If yo' know whab de dandelions grow."
